

Protection for mezzanine areas

Mezzanines are an often overlooked hazard in warehouses and industrial applications. Guard-railing can be installed to protect the mezzanines; however, the mezzanines are often used for storage and a safe means of transporting materials to and from the mezzanine areas needs to be addressed. Our mezzanine safety gates offer protection 100% of the time, when one gate is up, the second gate is down protecting the opening. A skid can be moved into the area of the safety gate and then the opposite side of the gate is raised to allow a fork-lift truck or other equipment to move equipment from the mezzanine to the ground level or from the ground level onto the mezzanine. Our mezzanine gates are custom designed and manufactured to suit the customer's unique requirements and existing applications. The pivot model safety gate is also another great option for mezzanine guarding.
